This compelling and important history of the British Empire, told from the perspective of the people who lived through it, tells the story of one of the largest and most powerful empires in human history. At one time, the British Empire ruled over almost a quarter of the world's population. Men, women, and children from all walks of life and from across the globe were affected in big and small ways, from the clothes they wore, the food they ate, and the languages they spoke to the work they did and the rights they held. This legacy and impact is still evident all over the world today. This book shines a light on the human aspects of the 'Empire where the sun never sets', introducing readers to a host of figures, both powerful and modest, who lived through, challenged, promoted, and influenced the course of the British Empire. Learn about Edward Colston, the British merchant who made his fortune selling and transporting slaves from Africa to the Americas, then meet Queen Nanny, the escaped slave who led a fight for freedom against the British in Jamaica. Hear from Robert Clive, the first British Governor of Bengal, known for laying the foundation of the British Empire in India, then hear the story of Rani Ki Jansi, a key figure in the Indian resistance movement against British colonial rule. Through the first-person narratives and expressive illustrations, readers will feel like they're truly meeting the figures whose lives were bound up in and impacted by the British Empire. Our Stories, Our Lives: The British Empire provides a starting point for young readers to delve into this important topic and discover eye-opening stories from varied figures across five continents. They will find familiar figures such as explorer Captain James Cook, missionary David Livingstone, and independence activist Mahatma Gandhi, as well as lesser-known global figures, including Field Marshal Muthoni, a female forest fighter in the Mau Mau uprising, Lin Zexu, the Chinese official who tried to stop the dangerous British opium trade, Tejonihokarawa, the Mohawk leader who travelled to London on a diplomatic mission, Margaret Tucker, the activist who campaigned for indigenous rights, and many more. This unique book gives readers the chance to discover the positions, viewpoints, and experiences of different figures within or affected by the British Empire and helps them develop a broader understanding of the reaches and impacts of colonialism. Taylor Witchcraft of New England Explained by Modern Spiritualism by Allen Putnam On Witchcraft: Glimpses of the Supernatural - Witchcraft and Necromancy by Frederick George Lee Letters On Demonology And Witchcraft by Sir Walter Scott The objective of this Motivational book is to highlight how ordinary people inspire us to do more. There are many Personalities around the world who have done much more than the people mentioned in this book. We often compare ourselves with famous personalities, Politicians, Businessmen, and Sportsmen. Know this, your destiny is different from those personalities. You have to walk on your own path if you cannot no one else will. The world is a big stage with Trillions of people following different religions and beliefs. Some are living from hand to mouth and some are living their lives in harmony and still, some do not inculcate the culture of goodness and mental strength among their children. There is a steep rise in the suicide case, especially among students, who cannot cope up with the pressure. Your small step can save the lives of millions.
